

Exegesis of Ephesians Independent Study (NTE 703)

Course Syllabus and Outline

Front Range Bible Institute

Professor Tim Dane (Fall 2011)

I. Course Description

This class is an exposition of the Book of Ephesians. This course will include classroom lectures that revolve around the work of the students in their interaction with the English text, but also with insight from the Greek text of Ephesians.

Students will do outside class work in the following areas in preparation for classroom interaction: (1) background studies in Bible Introduction with a 5-10 page paper (double spaced) on Bible Introduction matters, (2) twenty readings in the English text with a verse by verse set of notes that contain observations from your readings, (3) translation and parsing of the entire book from the Greek text, and (4) the production of an exegetical outline of the entire book with at least (a) main points, (b) sub points, and (c) sub sub points where appropriate.

Classroom lectures will deal with discussions about the kinds of items discussed above. It will include interaction from the professor from his own studies and teachings in this book. It will also include discussion about significant exegetical factors involving historical background, lexical issues, syntactical issues, and theological issues.

Students are required to actively participate by asking and answering questions and taking notes. Detailed notes will be provided, but the student is encouraged to make additions in the margins based upon classroom discussions that will expand and elaborate.

II. Course Objectives

- A. To gain a strong grasp of the unfolding argument and content of the Book of Ephesians with an ability to explain and teach it
- B. To gain a thorough knowledge of the major background issues that impact the interpretation of Ephesians with an ability to explain and teach it
- C. To gain a first hand grasp of the significance of the Greek text of Ephesians for the purpose of explaining and teaching it
- D. To learn the book's unfolding argument structure for the purpose of teaching the entire book expositively
- E. To learn how to identify and solve the major problem passages and doctrinal issues one faces in this book

- F. To have this study move the student toward a closer and richer relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ

III. Required Course Materials

- A. All: Professor's notes on Ephesians (inc. Expository Notes)
- B. All: Hoehner, Harold. Ephesians: An Exegetical Commentary. Grand Rapids: Baker, 2002.
- C. Suggested purchases:
 - i. Bruce, F. F. The New International Commentary on the New Testament. The Epistles to the Colossians to Philemon and to the Ephesians. Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 1993.
 - ii. Obrien, Peter. The Letter to the Ephesians. Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 1999 as class text book (or Russian equivalent).
- D. All: Your own computer or at least access to a computer (You do not need to have a laptop in class, but you may use one for note-taking if you prefer)
- E. Logos Libronix Bible Software Program (highly recommended as a personal study tool, but not required for the class. Group discount may be possible through FBI).

IV. Course Requirements

- A. Read Ephesians 5 times in the language of your choice.
- B. Listen to all the CD/online messages of Tim Dane on Ephesians through Sermon Audio.
- C. Read in full the commentary by Harold Hoehner.
- D. As a beginning project, read through a minimum of 40-50 pages of introductory materials on the Book of Ephesians from any Bible Introductory source (such as follows):
 - i. The introductory materials from Peter Obrien's Ephesians commentary
 - ii. The introductory materials from Harold Hoehner's Ephesians commentary
 - iii. The introductory materials from F. F. Bruce's Ephesians commentary
 - iv. The introductory materials from D. Edmond Hiebert on Ephesians
 - v. The introductory material from Donald Guthrie's Introduction to the New Testament

- vi. From your Bible Introduction reading, write a 5-10 page paper dealing with Bible Introduction issues: Author, Original Recipients, Date and Historical and Cultural Background of the epistle, Major Themes and Doctrines, Exegetical Outline of the epistle (with major points, sub points, and sub sub points where appropriate)

E. Recommended work for students knowing Greek:

- i. Before the beginning of the first class, translate the Book of Ephesians directly from Greek using your Greek text and a lexicon.
- ii. Before the beginning of the first class and as you are translating verse by verse, parse every verb and verbal on a verse by verse basis (As you are translating verse by verse, parse every verb and verbal on a verse by verse basis (you will naturally need to do your parsing before the proper translation of the verse)

F. As you are doing your readings and translation, create a section by section, verse by verse journal from your preliminary readings. This journal will help you to make note of significant doctrines and themes that you observe from your inductive studies. The student should use these observations to create a list of observations and questions from each section. In class the student can use these observations and questions to ask questions of the professor as the study comes to that particular section. The students are encouraged to ask serious questions for class interaction but to do so in a way that is relevant to productive learning.

G. Complete the course project by preparing an expository sermon according to the general guidelines in this syllabus, teach the sermon, have the sermon evaluated by a peer or professor, turn in the sermon evaluation.

H. Project Guidelines: One Expository Message

- i. The student will choose a passage day one (no students will have the same text)
- ii. Students will read their over their chosen text in their own language 20 times, making observations on their notebook with observations being verse by verse.
- iii. Students will do a line diagram of their text from the Greek text. This will help the student to refine the expository outline according to the syntactical structure of the original text.
- iv. Students will begin to compile a preliminary expository outline of their target text based on the readings they are doing in their own language as well as their observations from translation and their studies in the original text.

- v. Students will consult a minimum of five exegetical resources for their passage and record relevant comments on the entire section in their notes.
- vi. Students will take these cumulative exegetical observations and form their expository outline. This is an outline that:
 1. is in an outline form, but is very full in terms of both outline and content: (a) Major points that are symmetrical and represent the major theme of the text, (b) sub points which are symmetrical and represent the major theme of each sub point, (c) sub sub points if necessary, (d) a quality introduction that brings your listeners to see how you will unfold your message and provides an introduction to the major structure and purpose of your message, (e) a summary that brings a concise conclusion and application to what you have presented.
 2. communicates truth in an orderly and cohesive flow
 3. has good flow and symmetry according to the unfolding of the verses in relation to one another
 4. includes an appropriate amount of lexical detail to give the hearers a good understanding of the text
 5. includes an appropriate amount of syntactical detail to give the hearers a good understanding of the text
 6. includes an appropriate amount of theological information (biblical, systematic, historical) to help the readers understand the meaning and significance of the text
 7. includes an appropriate explanation of the ethical principles that flow from the text for current and personal application
 8. includes transitions which enable you to smoothly flow from one point to the next.
- vii. The student must teach this message on the last day of class in a very abbreviated time setting, a very short setting that will force you to communicate it very efficiently (evaluation form supplied).
- viii. Along with the evaluation form, the student must turn in a written statement about completion of all work.
 1. Completed reading of Bible Introduction and the Bible Introduction paper
 2. Completed reading of Ephesians 5 times in your own language
 3. Completed reading of target passage for 20 times
 4. Completed reading of a minimum of five commentaries on chosen target text on which you are going to preach

5. Completed teaching of your expository sermon and the submission of your sermon evaluation form
