Equipping Saints for the Upward Call of God

Instructor Peter Wise

B.A. Biblical Studies from Covenant College, M. Div. from The Master's Seminary, post-graduate studies in history, classical and oriental languages, San Diego State University, Hebrew studies at the University of Judaism.

Instructor of Bible and Old Testament languages, FRBI Board Member

Peter was an adjunct professor of Hebrew and Old Testament at The Master's University in California. Additionally, he has taught at Southern California Bible College and the Logos Bible Institute at Grace Community Church in Sun Valley, CA, where he also served as a deacon. Peter also had a long and distinguished career in public education teaching both adults and children. He received several awards for excellence in teaching, led numerous training seminars for teachers and extracurricular clubs and academic teams for students in districts in Colorado and California.

Peter and his wife, Allison, have two grown children. In their leisure time, they enjoy hiking and photography. His interests include music, computers, and photography. Peter's primary areas of ministry include music (both organ and piano), worship leader, choir director, and teaching at various levels.

Peter began teaching at Front Range Bible Institute in 2007.
